Hanif Kureishi is a very multifaceted author, playwright, screenwriter, novelist, and filmmaker. He was born in Bromley, UK in 1954, the son of a Pakistani father and an English mother. He read philosophy at King's College London. Hanif Kureishi contemporary critical perspectives brings together leading scholars of contemporary British fiction and culture to reassess the full range of the author's writings from novels such as The Black Album, My Son the Fanatic, and Something to Tell You to films such as Sammy and Rosie Get Laid, My Son the Fanatic, and Venus.

Hanif Kureishi CBE, born 5 December 1954, is a British playwright, screenwriter, filmmaker, and novelist of Pakistani and English descent. In 2008, the Times included Kureishi in their list of the 50 greatest British writers since 1945.

Early Life
Kureishi was born in Bromley, South London, to a Pakistani father, Rafiushan Shanoo Kureishi, and an English mother, Audrey Buss. Hanif Kureishi's witty stage adaptation of his strikingly prescient and acclaimed novel The Black Album humorously considers how the events of 1989 have shaped today's world where fundamentalism battles liberalism. A co-production with Tara Arts, The Black Album premiered at the National Theatre, London, in July 2009.

Hanif Kureishi is the author of novels including The Buddha of Suburbia, The Black Album, and Intimacy. He has written short story collections such as Love in a Blue Time, Midnight All Day, and The Body Plays including Outskirts, Borderline, and Sleep with Me. He has also written screenplays including My Beautiful Laundrette, My Son the Fanatic, and Venus.

The British writer Hanif Kureishi decided to mark the 20th anniversary of the Rushdie affair by adapting for the stage his 1995 second novel, The Black Album. The novel is set in 1988-89 and the Rushdie affair and radicalization of young Muslims are its central themes. Susannah Tarbush reports, The Black Album is the second novel by the playwright, screenwriter, and author Hanif Kureishi, set in 1989 though published in 1995. The novel is situated in the year that a fatwa was issued against Salman Rushdie by Ayatollah Khomeini, supreme leader of Iran. Hanif Kureishi's fiction is a conglomeration of influences: youth culture, the British Asian experience, sexuality, and experimentation in politics and resistance. The Buddha of Suburbia and The Black Album in including these influences make a political aesthetic of their own.
